

The book was found

Documenting Latin America: Gender, Race And Nation, Vol. 2

Synopsis

Documenting Latin America focuses on the central themes of race, gender, and politics. These themes are especially important for understanding and evaluating the history of Latin America, where identities were forged out of the conflicts, negotiations, and intermixing of peoples from Europe, Africa, and the Americas. Documentary sources provide readers with the tools to develop a broad understanding of the course of Latin American social, cultural, and political history. Drawing upon labor, biographical, economic, and military histories, the book offers a unique blend of perspectives of history from both above and below, from under-studied as well as often-studied regions, and from a combination of archival and classic sources that will allow readers to engage in a meaningful way with the Latin American past.

Book Information

Paperback: 312 pages

Publisher: Pearson; 1 edition (October 25, 2010)

Language: English

ISBN-10: 0132085097

ISBN-13: 978-0132085090

Product Dimensions: 6.9 x 0.8 x 8.9 inches

Shipping Weight: 1 pounds (View shipping rates and policies)

Average Customer Review: 5.0 out of 5 stars 3 customer reviews

Best Sellers Rank: #188,620 in Books (See Top 100 in Books) #135 in Books > History >

Americas > Central America #168 in Books > Textbooks > Social Sciences > Geography #191

in Books > Textbooks > Humanities > History > Latin America

Customer Reviews

These volumes are going to revolutionize the teaching of Latin American history. The sources are marvelous because they provide entire translated documents that permit students to delve deeply into many subjects...[and] to discover on their own the fascinating lives of common people and elites. In addition, the text contextualizes well each period and document, making it possible to teach a course based just on these volumes.

Erick D. Langer, Georgetown University Documenting Latin America is an exceptional collection in that it strikes the crucial balance between breadth and depth of coverage. Students and instructors alike will be impressed with the variety of interesting and well-chosen documentary selections, each of them with an introduction that is conceptually sophisticated yet accessible. Â Kevin Gannon, Grand View College

Erin E. Oâ™Connor is an associate professor of history at Bridgewater State College in Massachusetts. She has over a decade of teaching experience in both private and public institutions of higher education, where she has taught a wide variety of courses on Latin American and world history. Oâ™Connorâ™s research has focused on gender, ethnicity, and nation-state formation in nineteenth-century Latin America, which she explored in her first monograph, Gender, Indian, Nation: The Contradictions of Making Ecuador, 1830-1925 (Arizona, 2007). Her current research scrutinizes the multiple public implications of domesticity in Spanish America, investigating how both elite and poor individuals and families engaged with changing gender laws. Â Leo J. Garofalo is an associate professor of history at Connecticut College. Since 2000, he has taught majors and non-majors in the US and South America about colonial Latin America, the African Diaspora, modern politics and revolution, and immigration and migration issues. Garofalo's research explores the making of race in colonial Andean societies and the movement of people of African descent in the early Iberian worlds embracing three continents. His most recent book explores the impact of the Diaspora on the Americas and is co-authored with Kathryn Joy McKnight, *Afro-Latino Voices: Narratives from the Early Modern Ibero-American Atlantic World, 1550-1812*Â (Hackett, 2009). Currently he is researching the experiences of black sailors, soldiers, and popular saints and how they carved out a place of belonging and respect for themselves within the Spanish and Portuguese empires.

I had this book assigned to me while I took my Modern Latin America and it was a great companion to the text book that was assigned as well because it provided an in-depth & personal narrative to the course as we proceeded to look at Latin America in modern times. Not to mention that the Professor I was taking was published in this volume. Although I think that it could be expanded to include a GLBT perspective this will have to wait till the next edition.

I needed this book for my Latin American history class and it was excellent. I learned more and understood everything within the text.

The book arrived earlier than I expected, and was exactly how the seller described it. Overall, I'd say it was a good buy. I compared prices of this book with a few other places, and this was the best deal.

Download to continue reading...

Documenting Latin America: Gender, Race and Nation, Vol. 2 Documenting Latin America: Gender, Race and Empire, Vol. 1 The Hour of Eugenics": Race, Gender, and Nation in Latin America The Growth of a Superpower: America from 1945 to Today (Documenting America: The Primary Source Documents of a Nation) Re-Visioning Family Therapy, Second Edition: Race, Culture, and Gender in Clinical Practice (Revisoning Family Therapy: Race, Culture, & Gender in) Inclusion without Representation in Latin America: Gender Quotas and Ethnic Reservations (Cambridge Studies in Gender and Politics) The Case of the Ugly Suitor and Other Histories of Love, Gender, and Nation in Bueno (Engendering Latin America) Gender Born, Gender Made: Raising Healthy Gender-Nonconforming Children The Gender Game 5: The Gender Fall: The Gender Game, Book 5 Callaloo Nation: Metaphors of Race and Religious Identity among South Asians in Trinidad (Latin America Otherwise) The Blood of Guatemala: A History of Race and Nation (Latin America Otherwise) Race and Nation in Modern Latin America A Caesar Reader: Selections from Bellum Gallicum and Bellum Civile, and from Caesar's Letters, Speeches, and Poetry (Latin Edition) (Latin Readers) (Latin and English Edition) American Muslim Women: Negotiating Race, Class, and Gender within the Ummah (Religion, Race, and Ethnicity) Thirty-Eight Latin Stories Designed to Accompany Wheelock's Latin (Latin Edition) Belize: A New Nation In Central America (Nations of Contemporary Latin America) Music, Dance, Affect, and Emotions in Latin America (Music, Culture, and Identity in Latin America) The Cambridge History of Latin America, Volume 6, Part 2: Latin America since 1930: Economy, Society and Politics: Politics and Society Early Latin America: A History of Colonial Spanish America and Brazil (Cambridge Latin American Studies) Everynight Life: Culture and Dance in Latin/o America (Latin America Otherwise)

Contact Us

DMCA

Privacy

FAQ & Help