When Biscuit meets a little piglet, his new friend wants to follow him everywhere!

Alyssa Satin Capucilli is the author of the first story about Tulip and Rex, Tulip Loves Rex, as well as the bestselling Biscuit books and many other beloved children's books. She lives in a book-filled home in Hastings-on-Hudson, New York. Pat Schories's engaging illustrations of the puppy Biscuit are modeled on her own dog. In addition to having illustrated all the Biscuit books, she is also the artist and author of He's Your Dog and Mouse Around. Ms. Schories lives in Cold Spring, NY.

We love all of the Biscuit books and this one is no different. In these I Can Read! editions, the child gains confidence in reading ability since there is some repetition of words and easy sight words as well. Biscuit's Day at the Farm is a laugh out loud funny read that we have really enjoyed.

Bought this as a birthday present for my 3 year old Friend. She loved it and according to her mother wants it read to her all the time!

My grandson and granddaughter that live with me loved all the Biscuit books

Colorful pictures. I'll be reading it to my new grandson soon.

I bought a few of these "I Can Read!" for my 5yo and she can't get enough of them. She had been working on kindergarten sight words and was reading other books of the sort, so I figured she would jump right into these. For the most part I was right. There were a few words here and there that she would need help with, but for the most part she was reading away. If you little one is doing well on basic sight words they should be able to hit the ground running with these. I would also guess you could use them as an interesting way to practice the sight words.

This is a really cute book and series. I would like to eventually have them all for my son. He just loves them. This one is super cute and is all about biscuits helping feed animals and a piglet keeps getting out. My son giggles every time I read it and says "oh no!". I would recommend these books for toddler and younger kids.

Very boring for children with large vocabularies. Very boring for child and parents.

thanks
